Lost Warriors Advice Column

Walter & Wanda

This week got a couple advice requests about relationships. Here is one that was submitted.

Dear Walter and Wanda, Hi, I need help- I think my boyfriend is cheating on me, suddenly he's too busy to hang out with me and he started to encourage me to hang out with other people. If he ever left me my whole life would fall apart :( what is the best way to be sure if a person is cheating? Sincerely, Girl with a Broken Heart

Dear Girl with a Broken Heart,

One thing that can help is to stop suspecting every little thing and recognize that spending time with other people is really good for you. Plus, people really do get busy. Find something to occupy your time whether it be work, school, or anything else that interests you. Try not to leap to conclusions.

The most important thing is do not let this or anyone have power over your happiness. You don't want to be overly clingy and needy so try to step back, breathe, and live your life so if he does leave you then your world will stay strong and intact.

Forever and Always, Walter and Wanda.

It's Spring-Finally!

Sarah Ingalls

The first day of the Spring Equinox for 2017 is Monday, March 20th. The season will begin in the Northern Hemisphere at 5:28 AM. After a long winter that never seems to stop, the first day of spring will be very much appreciated.

Although snowmobiling, making snowmen, making forts, sledding, throwing snowballs, drinking hot chocolate, and many other winter activities may be fun, spring will bring many more activities we have been anticipating for some time now. Rather than walking through a pile of mushy and cold snow, people will be riding bikes around town, walking and running, gardening, going on scavenger hunts, flying kites, and so many more fun activities to do outside.

Not only are spring activities being anticipated, but the warm spring clothes are as well. Rather than a big winter coat, shorts, sandals, tank tops, light sweatshirts will be arriving soon. Feeling the sun on our faces, rather than snow seems to be a much better feeling. People are getting ready to get out of school and enjoy the beautiful weather once spring finally decides to arrive.

Once this warm and sunny season arrives, it may be difficult to keep people inside, which seems to be much better alternative than staying inside from the cold.

This or That

Here are this weeks Topics for This or That. Ice fishing or fishing, softball or baseball, North Face or Patagonia, speed boat or pontoon, and lastly, diet pop or regular pop. Here are the results.

Between ice fishing and fishing, fishing won with a score of 7-6.

Baseball is more favorable than softball as it won with a final score of 9-4.

North Face won over Patagonia with a score of 10-3.

Between speed boat or pontoon, more people prefer speed boat as it won with a final score of 8-5.

Lastly, regular pop won over diet pop with a final score of 10-3. Thanks for reading. Be sure to read again next week!

Top Five Things I Would Change About School And Why

Taylor Carranza

I decided to make a list of all things I would change about NU, I narrowed it down to the five things, and here they are.

The first thing I would change is open campus, I feel like upperclassmen should get the privilege of having open campus. Most kids try to leave school anyway, and instead of punishing everyone for one person's mistake, that one person should just be punished.

I also think classes should be weighted, I don't think it's very fair that some kids only take electives and get to be ranked at the top of their class because they're only taking easy classes. If you're taking harder classes and challenging yourself, you deserve to be at the top of your class instead of someone who only takes electives.

The lunches could be improved if we're not able to have open campus. I feel like we don't get enough food and we don't have much of a variety of choices. We could definitely have a salad bar or another type of substitute because some kids go all day without eating if they don't like what's for lunch.

We should also have a WiFi for the students/public to use. It's understandable that teachers don't want students on their phones 24/7 during class, but it's nice to have during sporting events or other school activities for the public to use.

The last thing is that I wish we had more enthusiasm from the students during sporting events or other school activities. Games are always so much more fun when there's a great student section, and I wish we had that at not only all sporting events, but everything else the school does.
